

the user's information needs. The user's information needs are defined as the user's information requirements that are not satisfied by the user's current information resources.

The user's information needs are defined as the user's information requirements that are not satisfied by the user's current information resources.

4.2.2. Information needs and information requirements

Information needs and information requirements are two related concepts. Information requirements are the user's information needs that are satisfied by the user's current information resources. Information needs are the user's information requirements that are not satisfied by the user's current information resources.

4.2.3. Information needs and information resources

Information needs and information resources are two related concepts. Information resources are the user's information needs that are satisfied by the user's current information resources.

4.2.4. Information needs and information sources

Information needs and information sources are two related concepts. Information sources are the user's information needs that are satisfied by the user's current information resources.

4.2.5. Information needs and information services

Information needs and information services are two related concepts. Information services are the user's information needs that are satisfied by the user's current information resources.

4.2.6. Information needs and information products

Information needs and information products are two related concepts. Information products are the user's information needs that are satisfied by the user's current information resources.

4.2.7. Information needs and information processes

Information needs and information processes are two related concepts. Information processes are the user's information needs that are satisfied by the user's current information resources.

4.2.8. Information needs and information environments

Information needs and information environments are two related concepts. Information environments are the user's information needs that are satisfied by the user's current information resources.

4.2.9. Information needs and information systems

Information needs and information systems are two related concepts. Information systems are the user's information needs that are satisfied by the user's current information resources.

4.2.10. Information needs and information networks

Information needs and information networks are two related concepts. Information networks are the user's information needs that are satisfied by the user's current information resources.

